Indian Veterans Revisit Southwest

A frequent sight around Southwest is the soldier, sailor, or discharged veteran who has come back to have another look at the well-known classrooms and halls, to talk to his favorite teachers, and to see some of the pals he has left behind in school.

His most familiar haunts are the Arrow room, the bandroom, the radio class, and the room behind the library where he may enjoy a cup of coffee with some of the faculty. Before leaving, he signs the serviceman's guest book in the office. A visit isn't complete without a chat with the coaches while football or baseball practice is in session at Pershing Field.

In this yearbook, the little man with the service button represents the returned serviceman visiting typical activities around Southwest.

In this first year of peace, since there are some former students who can never revisit these scenes, the graduating classes dedicate this yearbook to Southwest's eight gold star servicemen.

To the Classes of 1946

It is most appropriate to compliment you on your fine record as students. During your years in school, you have developed self-reliance and the ability to meet situations intelligently.

The progress of the world as well as the future peace of the world is directly dependent upon your ability to meet the more complicated responsibilities in life.

Develop the habit of looking ahead for the future is yours, accept criticism graciously, but never lose sight of the fact that knowledge is a most powerful weapon and with its proper use the goals you set will of necessity become yours.

Our Classes

January Seniors

Valedictorian, Eleanor Hines;
Salutatorian, Carrie Ann Olson

Since the members of the January 1945 graduating class feel that the classroom knowledge, the experience of working with others in school activities, and the social good times they have had at Southwest have been valuable training for their future work, they have chosen for their class theme, "A Foothold in the Future."

One of the most enjoyable senior experiences is rehearsing and presenting a class play. In "You Can't Take It with You," Eleanor Hines and Wesley Pidcock had the leading roles. It looked like fun for Jimmy Brooks and Janet Youngdahl to supply the romantic interest. Profits from the play went to purchase a practical class memorial in the form of new football uniforms and lights for the stage.

Because the class was conveniently small, many riotous class parties were held. Class Day at the Y.W.C.A. was spent in dancing, bowling, and games.

You Can't Take It With You

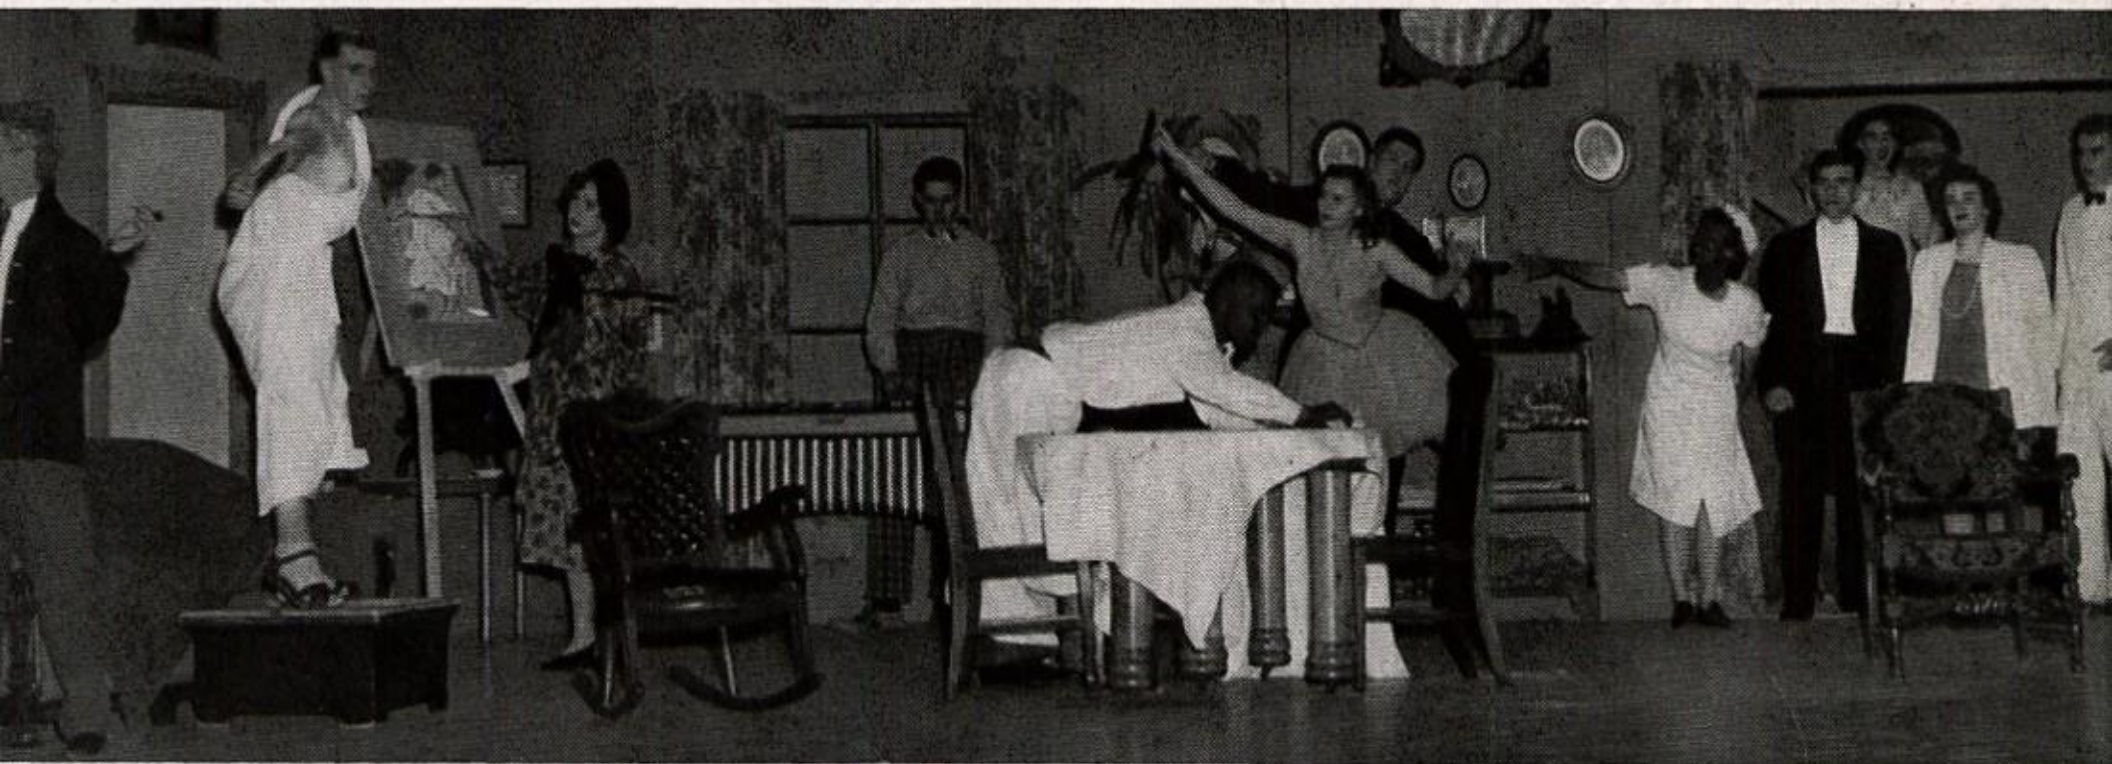

It was a night to take with you always—this night of December 7. Wes Pidcock as Grampa was making a desperate effort to refrain from sneezing while Mr. Gregory glued on his beard.

Naturally, the parts of the two lovers went to Janet Youngdahl and Jimmy Brooks. It certainly wasn't any hardship on them. Eleanor Hines was the playwriting mother, Penny, whose husband was Jack Boman, as Paul. Paul made firecrackers—just peachy ones. His moronic helper, Mr. De Pinna, was Warren Finberg. Really there was nothing wrong with Mr. De Pinna that a good kick in the head wouldn't help.

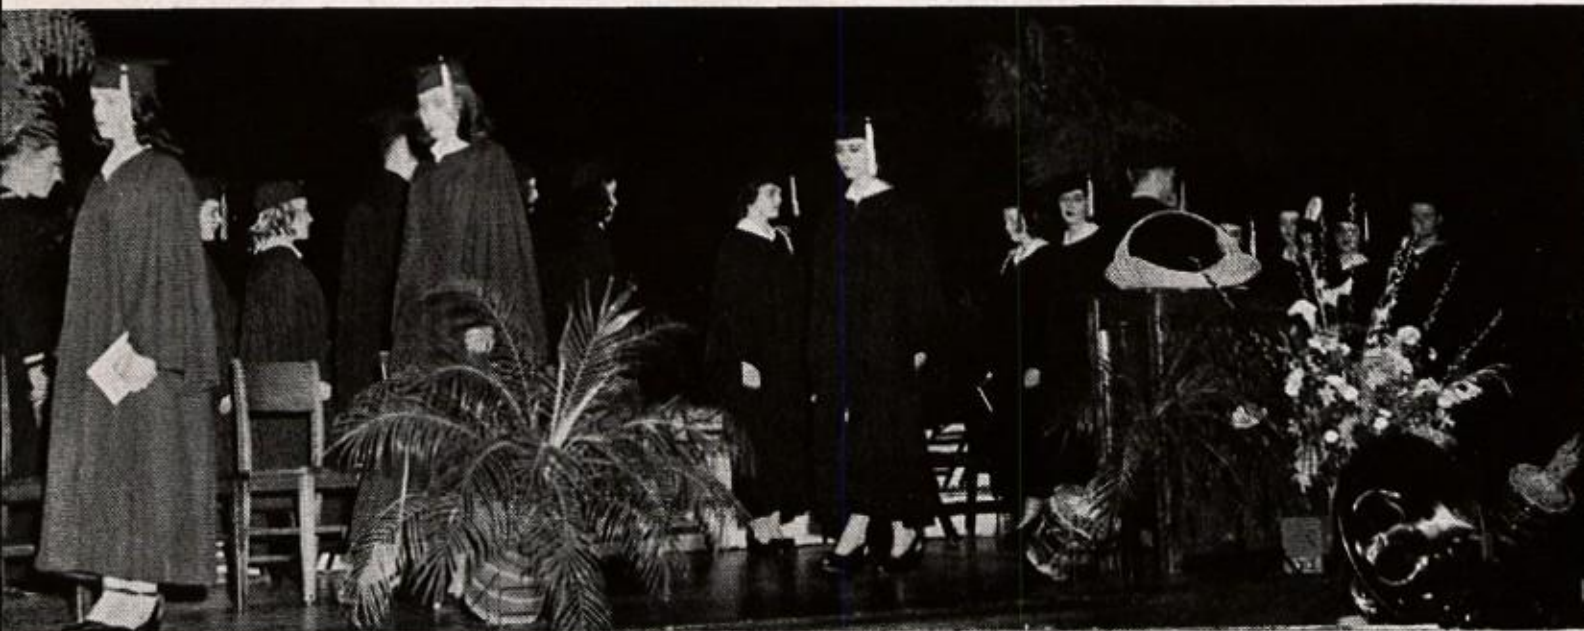

Mary Jane Ewing as Essie, the would-be dancer in the family, appeared a little weak in the head, but she was nice. Archie Alexander as Ed, her husband, did all right, too. Barbara Coleman and Tom Eckert thoroughly enjoyed themselves as Reba and Donald, the two colored servants. The hardest thing Don did was to catch flies for Grandpa's snakes.

Kenny Olson as Mr. Henderson, the befuddled tax collector, and Neil Bassett as the Mad Russian, Essie's dancing teacher, Mr. Kolenkhov, kept the crowd in an uproar. The Grand Duchess, Olga Katinka, cousin of the Czar, has since become a waitress in Child's. This unfortunate person was played by Janet Johnson. It was fun to see Tony's snobbish parents (Pat Gold and Ron McGill) finally bow to the Sycamores. Dan Peterson, John Taylor, and John Aldritt as the three G-Men eventually found what they weren't looking for.

Despite an almost losing battle with the "flu" and other ailments, the play was a success. The credit should go to not only the cast but also to Barbara Hanson, the student director, to Hayne Freeman, and Carrie Olson, who handled tickets, and the stage crew. Last, though definitely not least, credit goes to our director, Mrs. Boylan. It was because of her untiring efforts that our play went on at all. None of us will ever forget "You Can't Take It with You."

June Class of 1946

Salutatorian: Bruce McGarvey
Valedictorian: Nancy Burkhardt

About to enter the world of adult life, the June class of 1946 chose "Tomorrow Is Ours" as the theme for their commencement. The motto was picked because they thought it was appropriate for the role that youth must play.

"Bottoms Up," an original comedy written by Harold Gregory, radio and speech teacher at Southwest, was chosen as the class play. It is the story of life on a college campus. The leading characters were Janet Wampler and Marge Reinertsen as Linda Howard, the campus queen; Tom Lundquist as Algie Higgins; John Thomasberg as Billy Drake, Beta Chi president; and Alan Moss and Jim Rognas as Bulge Doolittle, his friend. The play had stirring suspense, wit, and rollicking humor.

On June 7, the seniors held their annual junior-senior prom. With a good band and a highly polished dance floor the gymnasium, converted into a ballroom, was packed with fun-loving juniors and seniors.

"Bottoms Up"

The world premier of the June class play, "Bottoms Up," was presented in Southwest High School on May 23 and 24. This play was written and directed by Harold Gregory, speech instructor at Southwest.

Tom Lundquist, as Algie Higgins, is a shy but brilliant student afflicted with gynecophobia, a morbid fear of women. He is pledged to Beta Chi by Billy Drake (John Thomasberg) and Bulge Doolittle (Alan Moss, Jim Rognas). Billy's friend, Linda Howard (Marge Reinertson, Janet Wampler), has been elected college queen after defeating Betty Warren, the dean's niece (Joan Lagorio). Consequently, Betty changes the answers on Linda's chemistry paper in order to disqualify her, for she must meet the educational requirements for the queen. Billy

"persuades" Algie to tutor Linda for her chemistry make-up examination. Since she is confined to her room, Billy and Algie have to climb through her dormitory window. The boys are caught by Betty who threatens to reveal their whereabouts. After they lock Betty in Linda's closet, the proceedings go on for the inauguration of Linda as queen. Poor Algie is forced to keep watch. However, the dean (Mary Dyer) discovers Betty; consequently, she expels everyone but the disguised Algie. He escapes to the prom and by tricking Betty into a confession, he proves to Dean Page that Linda is innocent. The others are reinstated, and Algie, no longer girl-shy, takes over with Linda and leaves Billy alone with his "indifferent approach."

Football

Southwest's 1945 football squad was paced by the untiring efforts of Captain Tom Echert, whose high-caliber actions earned for him a guard berth on the All-City eleven for the second consecutive season. Aiding him was halfback Jim Dobbyn, whose running and passing abilities formed the backbone of some of the finest offensive football Indian followers have ever witnessed.

Under the experienced eye of Coach Bill Adam, the Warriors reached their peak against a strongly-favored Henry eleven and clearly outplayed the Pats in the second half to end Henry's two year victory string at 22 games and capture their only win of the season, 6-0.

Due to an absence of concentrated offensive blocking the Indians dropped their homecoming game to Washburn in the roughest, most bitterly contested tilt of the season, 7-0. Although they developed a passing attack and improved their offensive teamwork, the purple-clad pigskinners dropped their remaining three tilts and ended in ninth place in city league standings.

Basketball

The 1946 Southwest basketball team, the best in Indian history, ended the season with a .500 rating and fifth place in the city league. This is the highest a Southwest team has finished in city competition.

The purple-white cagers turned back South 28-26 and Washburn 34-29 in their first two league appearances. Following these surprise victories, the Indians assumed the favorite's role, but lost to Marshall 25-19 and Henry 24-23 in two nip and tuck games. The Indians hit the victory trail once again against Central by downing the Pioneers 34-22. North and Vocational were the next two victims of the Indian assault by 38-33 and 39-25 scores respectively. In the last game of the season West turned history around and the Cowboys scalped the Indians to the tune of 52-42 in a high-spirited affair.

Southwest had one of the most evenly balanced clubs in the city league. Karl Dosen, Dave Garner, Jack Thommen, and Curt Timm all received favorable mention on the permanent all city team. Prospects for next year are low, however, as no letter men return.

Track

Southwest, always considered a threat among local track circles, found a rough course ahead. Under the keen eye of veteran mentor Al Halley, she attempted to maintain her reputable cinder standing this spring.

With only five letter winners counted among a record number of aspirants who reported during the opening days of practice, the Indians this season were dependent basically upon their ability to develop dashmen and hurdlers and the accomplishments of veterans Al Byers, Jack Thommen, and Dave Lieb in the distances; and George Holm, Jim Miska, Ed Henry, and Karl Dosen in the field events.

The cindermen opened the season by capturing third place in the annual state wide Metropolitan Meet. In their first dual meet against Central the Warriors won nine firsts and seized all three places in the half mile, shot put, and pole vault events to earn a 73½-39½ victory.

Coach Halley's '46 cindermen thus proved they have the power, and if these meets are a true indication of the team's progress they will undoubtedly be among the leaders at the end of the season.

Cross Country

For the second time the Southwest harrier squad, under the guidance of Coach Al Halley, captured the city cross country championship.

Each of the dual meets was against a top ranking team: Roosevelt and St. Paul Johnson, Duluth Central and West. In the West meet Halley's boys placed in each of the first five places to win by the perfect score of 15-40.

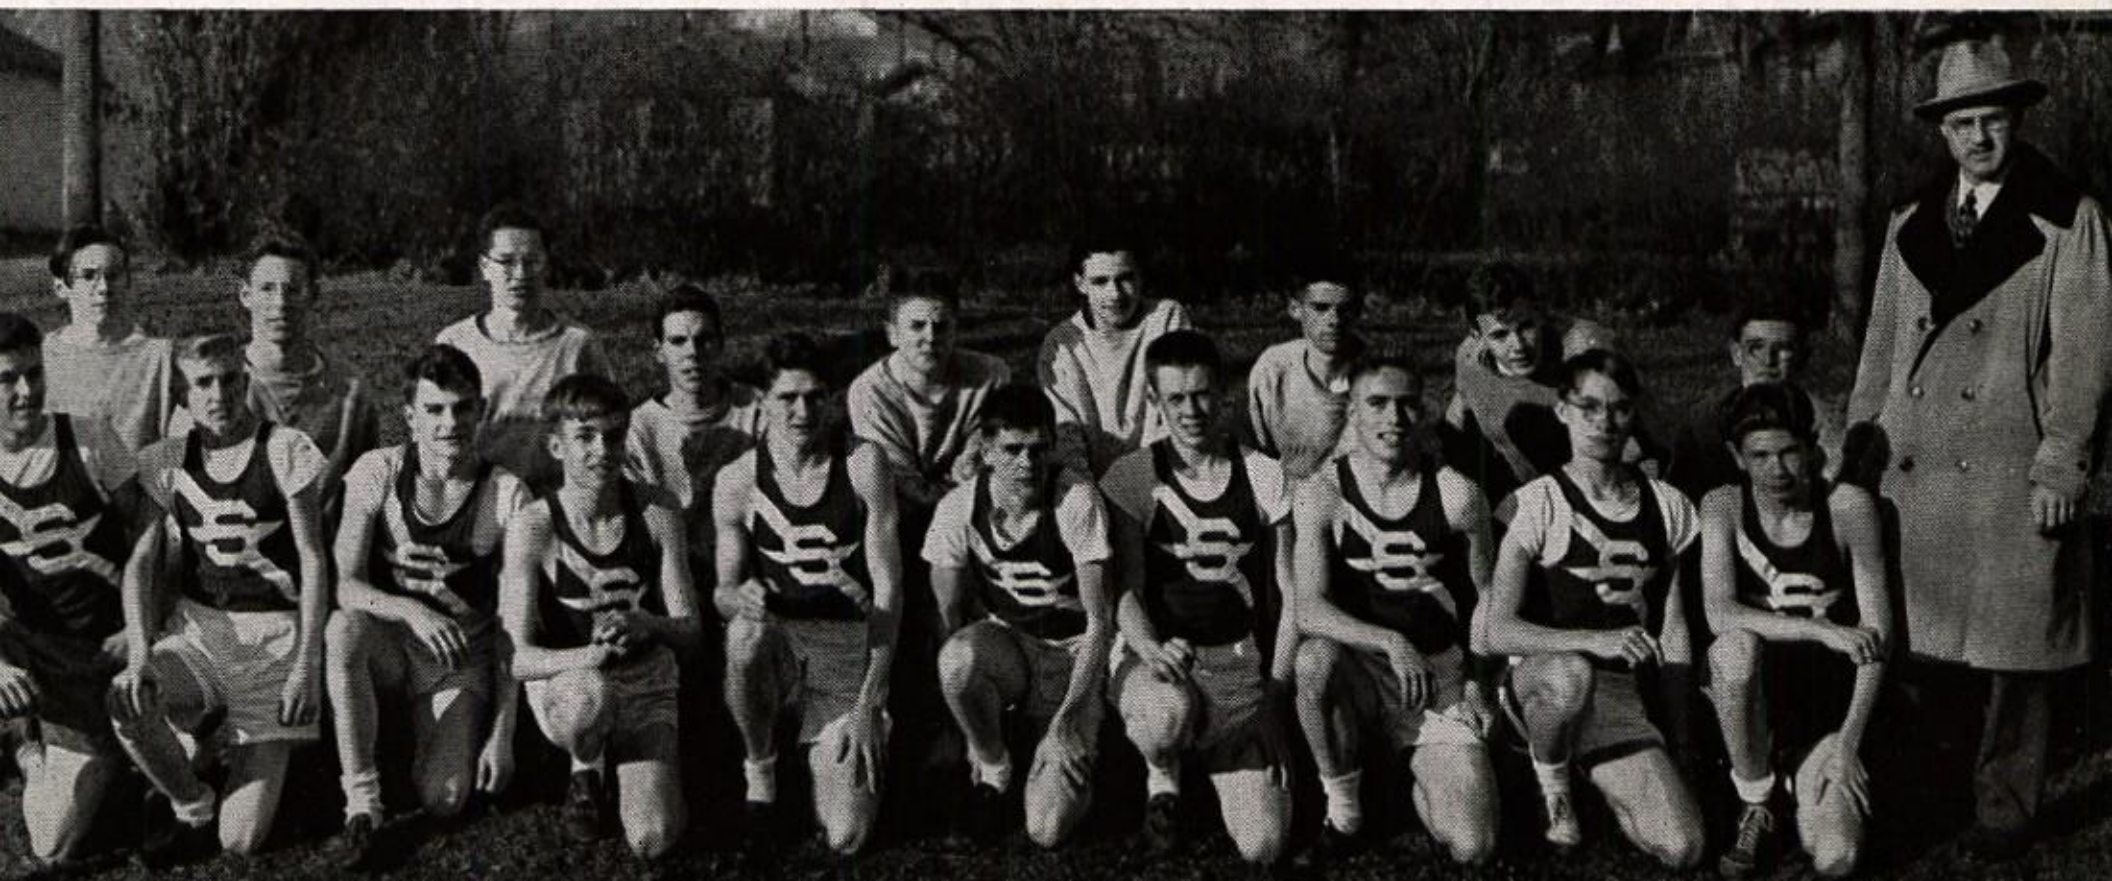

Captain Al Byers paced his mates to the city title by taking the Lake Nokomis course in 9.37.3 to come in first and set a new city record by .3 seconds. Bob Gose, Dick Sells, Jack Thommen, and Phil Lind placed third, fourth, eighth, and ninth respectively to give the Indians their victory.

Twenty degree weather and snow, which complicated warm-up drills, proved the downfall of the Purple-White Thin-clads in the state meet. By placing seventh, eighth, and eleventh, respectively, Phil Lind, Bob Gose, and Jack Thommen were able to give Southwest a victory over the other city schools entered in the meet; but Duluth Central, who won the title, and St. Paul Johnson led the field which consisted of 85 participants.

Swimming

The Indian mermen this season made a very impressive showing in competition with the other schools in the city league. They whipped every tank corps in the city except West, who captured the City meet, and finished the season in second place in the league standings.

In the state meet the boys made a greatly improved showing; the relay team, composed of Rich Fontaine, Tom Sanberg, John Ederer, and Chuck Blumer, paced the entries from all the city schools. Indians' Fred Bernier, in the 220, and the medley squad captured third places in the Y Invitational; while Fontaine in the 100 yard free style, Ralph Stillman, in the breast stroke, and the relay team placed fourth.

Although Fontaine, the squad's leading point gainer, will not return next season, Blumer and Stillman, both high scoring tanksters, will be on the roster next year.

Coach Rudy Pedersen is looking forward to a highly successful season next year with four sophomores and a freshman counted among the returning performers.

Hockey, absent for five years, was re-established in the local prep athletic picture this winter, and Southwest, defending champs of the previous league, was again among the pace-setters.

Under the guidance of Coach Paul Wohlford, the Purple-White sextet earned a third place slot in the final standing; for they skated to three wins, two ties, and dropped their first and last tilts, 2-0. In non-conference games they tied a fast skating Blake six, 1-1, and lost, 7-2, to an all-veteran Rochester squad that gained a berth in the state finals.

With their arch rivals from Washburn the Indians put on one of the most exciting exhibitions of the season when, led by co-captain Wally Lilja and Bill Sarles at defense, they found the net four times in the final period to earn a 4-4 tie with the Millers. Sophomore goalie, Jim McDonald, turned in his top performance in this tilt by stopping 20 attempts.

Leading the team as the top scorers with three goals apiece made in league games were Russ Haglof and Doug Nelson; the latter was named as center on the first string All-City six. These boys teamed up with co-captain Jim Miska the first line and were spelled off by the second line composed of Darrell Barnett, Bill Berg, and Jim Holker.

Next season the puck squad can open the year with eight returning members including a veteran goalie and defense line.

Baseball

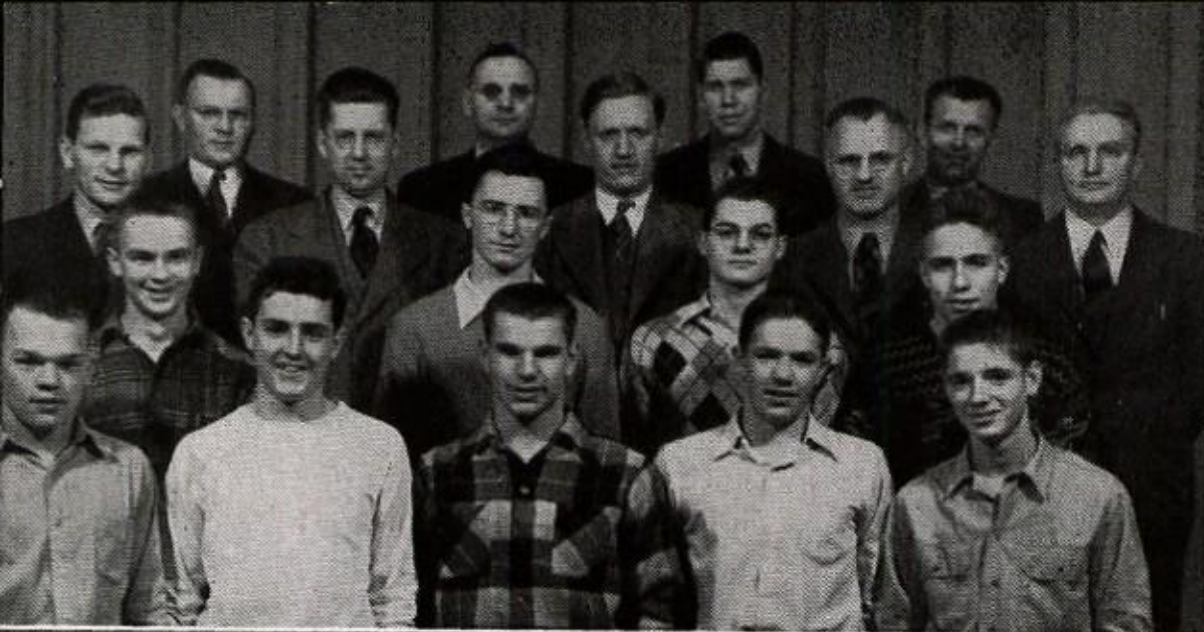

Led by captain Jim Holker, one of the hardest hitters in the city, the Indians' Legion-developed infield will attempt to put Southwest in the diamond spotlight this season. Coach Adam, who is the third mentor to take over the baseball reins in as many seasons, has six lettermen to work with in forming Southwest's '46 nine.

Working with shortstop Holker in the infield will be Paul Opsahl behind the plate, Wally Lilja covering first base, George Armour at second base, and Vern Anderson guarding the hot corner. Aside from outfielder Dick Brackett and pitcher Russ Haglof, however, Coach Adam will be forced to develop an outfield and a hurling staff composed entirely of rookies.

The city diamond league will again be divided this year into two divisions, north and south, with the city championship to be determined by a play-off between the leaders of the two divisions. Southwest will play in the southern division where Washburn and West are the pre-season favorites.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

S.A.G.A., the Southwest Athletic Girls' Association, provides fun and spirited competition in a before and after school intramural sports program. Almost any morning from 7:50 to 8:20 in the gym, enthusiastic members may be playing volleyball, basketball, tennis, or badminton. Points may be won for participating in and winning these individual and team sports. Three hundred points win a gold arrow emblem; six hundred, a thunder bird; one thousand, an All-City Emblem.

Underclass gym concentrates mostly on the various ball games like tennis, badminton, basketball, volleyball, baseball, and soccer. However, peppy, rhythmic folk dancing and a comprehensive course in first aid are also taught.

A series of electives is offered to the eleventh and twelfth grade girls. The most popular of these is modern dance, a class whose members originated tap and ballet routines this year for the Gay Nineties Revue, a tremendously successful school program. Other electives offered are archery, where the girls make their own bows, arrows, and targets in winter in preparation for warm weather when they can shoot at targets outside; recreational leadership, which increases social poise through learning to plan and to lead group games and parties; and biking and bowling, a popular course in which the girls take long bike rides through our beautiful lakes and parks in spring and fall, and enjoy bowling at the Edina bowling alleys in winter.

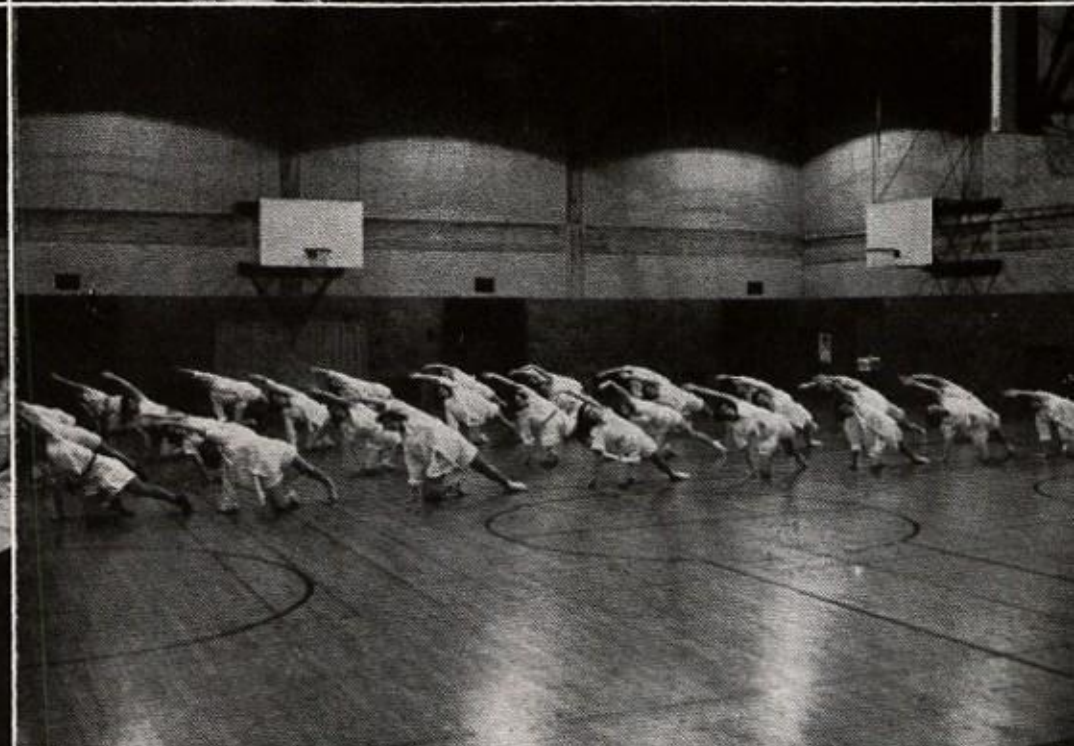

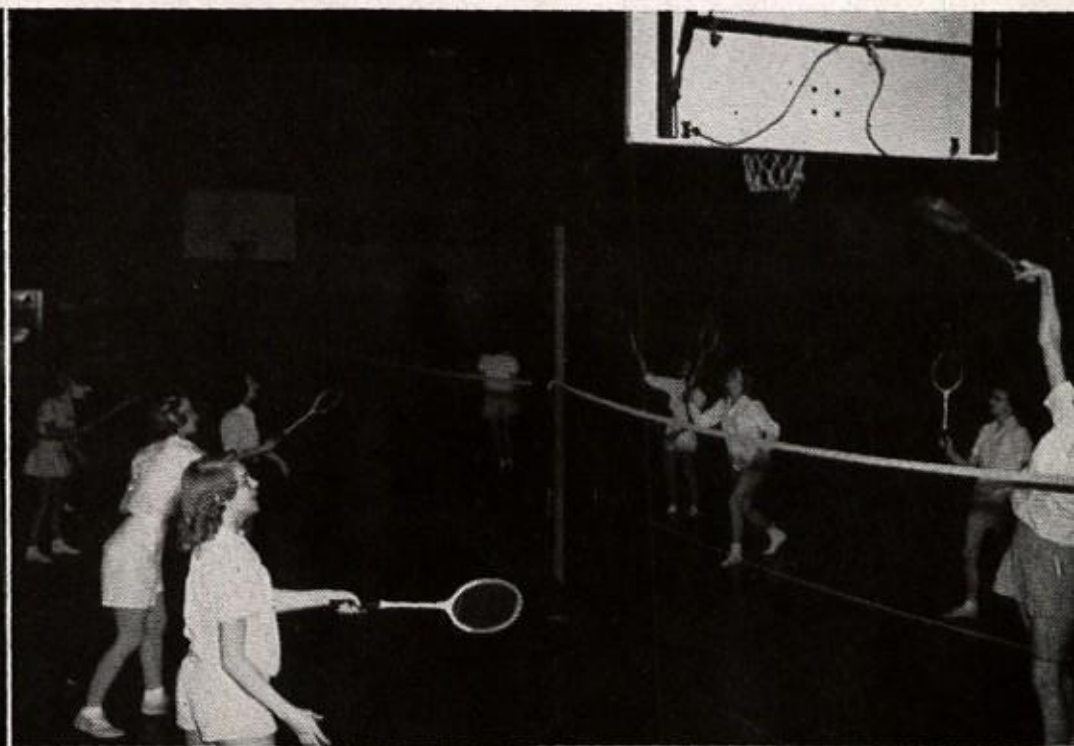

Girls' athletics at Southwest are keyed to developing the personal traits of social cooperativeness and friendly competition. Sports like bowling and tennis which can be enjoyed as healthful recreation throughout adult life are emphasized.

Clubs provide a social outlet for many girls. Here at Southwest are three popular clubs; namely, the Blue Triangle, the Silver Triangle, and Seton Hi.

Always doing something, the Blue Triangle is an active organization. Their activities range from overnights at Lyman Lodge to making nut cups for the hospitals. A Christmas highlight is caroling at the old people's home. Parties at the settlement house are a big favorite for the girls. Here they can again participate in childhood games. The social event all anticipate is the dance given each term at the Y.M.C.A.

The Silver Triangle provides a full program for the freshman and sophomore girls. With sleigh rides and roller skating parties the members are kept busy. Their service projects include Easter and Thanksgiving baskets for hospitals and cards and handicraft for the Sister Kenny Institute.

Seton Hi is another active club in Southwest; girls in all grades are eligible for membership. With sleighrides, overnights, and a Christmas party at a settlement house, the members are kept busy. Their mother and daughter banquet was a particularly enjoyable affair. This year's activities will end with the overnight at Camp Tonadoona.

The Student Council has been very active this year. This group has sponsored a student government venture—the Ethics Committee—paper sales and dances.

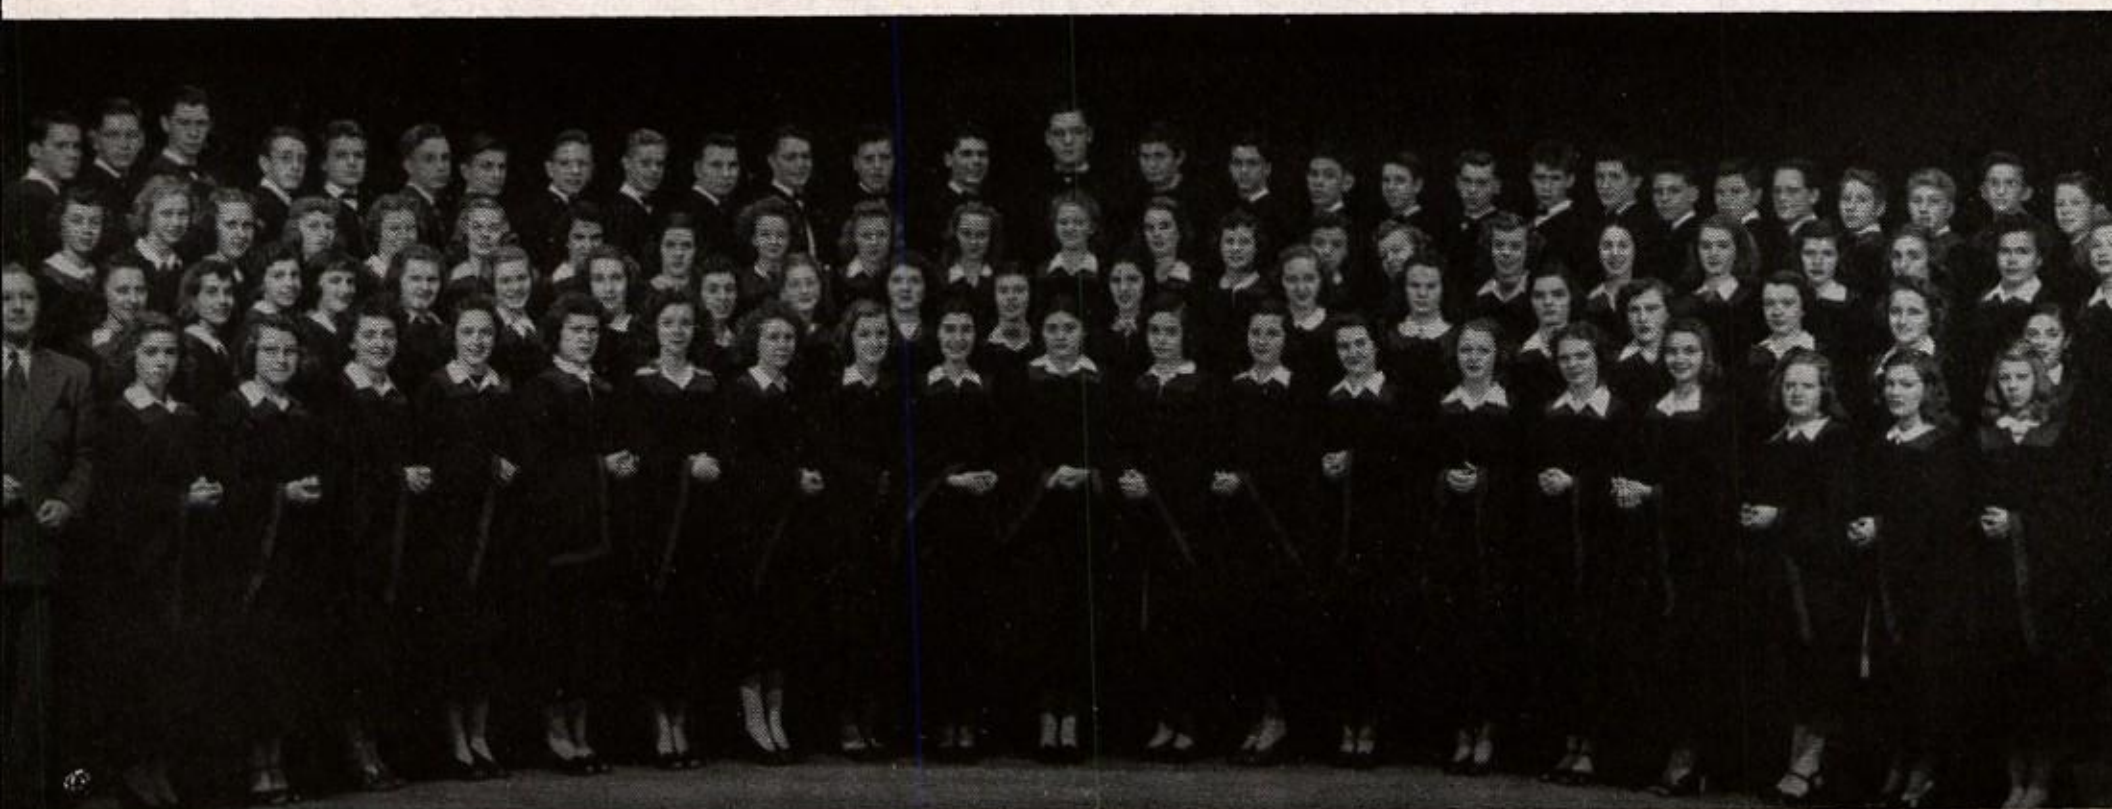

Music Department

Mustaches and bouncing bustles? That doesn't sound much like a choir, does it? You would be surprised at what goes on in the choir room. Lynn Roam headed the musical activities during the first term. During the last term the choir, under the able direction of O. B. Dahle, a Naval veteran, has participated in many programs. The "Gay Nineties Revue," featuring the above mentioned regalia, was a prominent performance. A part in the all-city choral concert, a formal spring revue, school auditoriums, programs at neighboring schools, dances, and picnics have taken the time of the members and provided fun and recreation for all.

What is it that draws the attention of the first period study hall to room eight? The Southwest Band probably is practicing for one of its many school activities such as providing music for auditoriums, playing gay nineties favorites for the Spring Revue, collaborating with the choir in putting on the Spring Concert of May ninth, and going on good will trips to Harriet and Fulton schools.

The Southwest Swing Band provides an opportunity to play popular music as well as good training for later professional band work. Under the dynamic leadership of Eugene Baxter, the swing band has played for five sunlights, the Spring Concert, and the June class play, "Bottoms Up."

The music department deserves credit for its many contributions to school life.

Arrow Staff

There is always a frantic rush to finish stories before the deadline, to get headlines worded so they fit the columns correctly; then the editors of Southwest's monthly newspaper, the Arrow, are ready for a big day at the printers. The editors usually ride down in Bob Curle's car. They spend the day setting type and proofreading pages, but there's time out to eat some luscious hamburgers and malteds for lunch. As they return home, grimy and exhausted, they exclaim over the wonderful time they have had.

The day the Arrow comes out, there is a hush in all the home rooms as the news is scanned, broken by laughs or sneers while the feature and gossip columns are perused. A topsy-turvy, scatter-brained April Fools' Day edition, the Error, had everyone howling. But up in the Arrow room, it's a different story as the editors tear their hair over the inevitable typographical errors. Finally they are calmed down by Mrs. Zittleman's advice, "You'll just have to take it philosophically."

Annual Staff

The photo staff spends many days following the photographer around while he gets action shots of our supermen at Pershing and interrupts classes to pose the teachers. When this staff has accumulated enough candids at homecoming and dances, the members may begin to lay out pages in the annual room off the stage. This is done with huge sheets of cardboard, T-squares, and rubber cement glue which gets all over everybody. Of course, there are big arguments over which pictures to use.

Getting the subscription money collected from the homerooms isn't the least of the yearbook worries.

The biggest pet peeve of the girls on the staff is having to walk through boys' gym while basketball practice is raging to get to and from the annual room.

Toward spring there's never a dull moment for the copy staff with the cast of "Bottoms Up" wandering in and out between cues, helpfully dueling with broomsticks and popping paper sacks. But finally everything gets sent to the printer in preparation for the day when the 1946 WAGISTANIAN is distributed.

Handwritten musical score for the song "Cheer Southwest on to victory, Cheer her". The score is written on two staves. The top staff is in treble clef with a key signature of one flat (B-flat) and a common time signature (C). It contains a melody with various note values including quarter, eighth, and sixteenth notes, as well as rests. The bottom staff is in bass clef with the same key signature and time signature, providing a bass line. The lyrics "Cheer Southwest on to vic — tory, Cheer her" are written between the two staves, with a long dash under "vic" indicating a continuation of the word "victory".

A handwritten musical score for the song 'The Rose Tree'. The score is written on two staves. The top staff uses a treble clef and the bottom staff uses a bass clef. Both staves are in the key of B-flat major, indicated by two flats (B-flat and E-flat) at the beginning of each staff. The time signature is 3/4, shown as a '3' over a '4'. The melody is written with quarter and half notes, and the accompaniment consists of chords marked with 'x' and '3' (triplets). The lyrics are written below the staves: 'on to day, Spread her fame and her fair'. The paper is aged and yellowed.
